Colour from Cues: Worksheet

Image adapted from: Raj Dhage, Wikimedia Commons, CC BY-SA 4.0

This kingfisher is a small one measuring just about 14 centimetres. Its back and wings are dark bluish-black, and it has a lilac-pink patch at the rump. The top of its head is a mix of lilac and reddish-brown, with blue, orange and white patches on the sides of its neck. Its throat is white. The belly and chest are bright orange or orange-yellow. It has a long, wide reddish-orange beak that is about 3 centimeters long. Its legs and feet are also reddish-orange. It has only three toes unlike other kingfishers! This bird is found in dense forests and looks like a flying jewel.